

Here (below) and on pages No. 175-181 are eight photographs of clothes on my clothes line.

Early this morning (May 26, 2013), a beautiful breezy morning in May, I washed these bed clothes in the creek that is seen beneath a portion of the clothes line. I then hung the wet clothes on the line.

About 4:30 P.M., I took these photographs and then took the clothes from the line.

Clothes lines are one of my favorite things. I love to wash clothes and put them on the line to dry. The outdoor smell on the clothes is unbeatable, always.
